

DIOCESAN DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION

Application Pack January 2026

Introduction from Bishop Joanne the Bishop of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich

Welcome to the Diocese of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich and to this information pack about our Diocesan Director of Education vacancy.

Thank you for your interest in this post, which arises on the forthcoming retirement of our current Director. This is an exciting time in the Diocese of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich. Our diocesan vision is Growing in God and the Church of England's vision for education is Deeply Christian, serving the common good. Our schools and academy trusts are an important part of the work of the Church of England here in Suffolk.

As Diocesan Director of Education (DDE) you will play a major part in developing and supporting our vision, ensuring that children and young people are at the heart of our work. You will support the Diocesan Board of Education (DBE) in its statutory role. We support all our schools to enable all pupils and adults to flourish as unique individuals made in the image of God alongside being places of academic excellence. The role of DDE carries significant leadership responsibility, but you will not be alone. As well as managing a small team, you will be part of the diocesan Senior Leadership Team and a member of the Bishop's Staff team working alongside a team of clergy and laity who are passionate to see our schools and parishes thrive.

To do all of this, you will be a person of humility and prayer, who works imaginatively and collaboratively whilst building trust. I hope that this pack inspires you to apply.

Rt Revd Dr Joanne Grenfell, Bishop of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich

The Diocese

The Diocese of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich covers the county of Suffolk (excluding the area around Lowestoft in the north-east) and including one parish in Essex.

A rich and diverse county, it is a mainly rural Diocese, encompassing a large number of small villages, seaside resorts and market towns such as Haverhill, Beccles and Eye. It also includes the cathedral town of Bury St Edmunds with its historic Abbey.

The county town of Ipswich is home to more than a quarter of Suffolk's population, Ipswich Town football team and the well-regarded University of Suffolk.

Also within our borders are historic places of interest such as Sutton Hoo, the world-renowned cultural destinations at Snape Maltings and Aldeburgh, and the Heritage coast, a haven for lovers of natural history and birdlife.

What we do for a living

Suffolk's agricultural landscape reflects the foundation of a rural economy that has had a significant role in shaping not just the landscape but our culture and values over many centuries. While agriculture now accounts for less than 2% of the working population, an estimated 10% are employed in 'food to fork' businesses. A vast number of food producers and breweries, both small and very large, are based here.

Suffolk is understood as a county of opportunity. Transport and logistics firms are major employers along the A14 corridor and Felixstowe boasts the UK's largest container port. Energy is set to become a significant growth area for Suffolk over the next decade with the arrival of the new Sizewell C nuclear plant. Thousands of new jobs and apprenticeships are expected to be created at the site and in supply chain companies. Advanced manufacturing, biotechnology, ICT and finance are also significant employers in the county. Tourism brings well over £2bn to the local economy each year, with tens of thousands employed in the sector. Sport, through the horse racing industry around Newmarket and Ipswich Town Football Club, and arts and culture, including the annual Aldeburgh and Latitude festivals – play a significant part in making Suffolk a destination county.

The Church across the Diocese

Suffolk Diocese has 481 churches and 87 church schools, and we serve 684,000 people. We have 443 parishes and 111 benefices, giving us the highest percentage of multi-parish benefices of any Diocese. The number of Fresh Expressions has grown considerably in the last few years and currently stands at 187. The Diocesan Bishop, Right Revd Dr Joanne Grenfell, lives in Ipswich, which is also where the Diocesan Office is based. St Edmundsbury Cathedral is in Bury St Edmunds.

Schools

Our work with schools is a strength. There are 14,000 pupils in our 87 church schools, 85 primary and two secondary. Of our 87 schools, 6 are Voluntary Aided (VA), 25 Voluntary Controlled (VC) and 56 are academies (64%). Three-quarters of our schools are or were formerly VC.

Our schools play an important part in the life of the Diocese with our Diocesan Director of Education a member of Bishop's Staff. We work closely with other Dioceses, regionally and nationally and with partner organisations like Christian Aid. Our RE teaching resource, the Emmanuel Project is widely used across Suffolk and in other Dioceses. Our Diocesan education team promotes a Christian vision for schools in which all can grow and flourish, and we promote excellence in the teaching of RE and in Collective Worship.

Diocesan Board of Education (DBE)

The DBE is a statutory committee of the Diocesan Board of Finance with particular functions and responsibilities for church schools, RE and Collective Worship and education in the diocese more widely. The DBE is chaired by the Archdeacon of Suffolk, the Ven Rich Henderson. Our key priorities are:

1. to develop and support highly effective church schools and Headteachers
2. to equip and resource church schools to deliver high quality RE and Collective Worship
3. to support schools, governors and clergy in ensuring the Christian distinctiveness of church schools
4. to develop and strengthen effective links between churches and schools which enable faith to grow and to contribute to the Diocesan Growing in God strategy.

We have recently (in July 2025) updated our highly successful Emmanuel Project, moving to an online subscription model which will be easier for schools to access and for us to update-The Emmanuel Project | Providing a complete set of enquiry-based units for teaching RE in Primary school

Diocesan Education team

Our team is currently made up of 4.7fte staff. Together we:

- provide training and resources on RE and collective worship, spiritual development and SIAMS
- provide advice on admissions (to voluntary aided schools)
- administer funding for school building projects (to voluntary aided schools)
- support schools at their Ofsted inspection feedback
- help schools to develop a Christian vision
- provide wellbeing support, training and conferences for schools
- visit schools and host online forums for heads, chairs of governors and small schools
- deal with the appointment and resignation of foundation governors.

More information can be found on our diocesan website- <https://www.cofesuffolk.org/schools/>

There is a strong and supportive professional network of DDEs across the 42 dioceses in England. The National Society for Education provides support and manages SIAMS inspections- <https://www.nse.org.uk/>
